

Ortho Clinical Diagnostics, a Johnson & Johnson company, is a worldwide leading manufacturer of high value technical products and services for the global health care community. Our European Support Center (near Strasbourg, France) is providing technical support, professional trainings and logistics to our customers in Europe, Africa and the Middle-East. In order to reinforce the multinational team dedicated to technical support, we are recruiting a:

Technical Support Specialist

YOU ARE:

- Interested in living in Strasbourg and working in an international and dynamic environment
- Educated as a biomedical engineer, in electronics or life sciences, possibly with some experience in customer relationship management or in a medical laboratory
- Willing to become an expert in new technologies
- Passionate for communication, customer contact, & for people
- Fluent in 1 or more European languages & able to communicate in English
- Looking for an opportunity to join a leader in the health care industry

WE OFFER YOU:

- A hi-tech and scientific role. Our customers and patients will count on your knowledge and commitment
- Extensive training and continuous learning
- Attractive compensation package
- Company benefits and relocation package
- An intercultural environment in a world-renown healthcare company
- Real career development opportunities
- An intriguing location in one of Europe's most attractive cities with a rich heritage of culture & history, close to the Swiss-German border

You will provide our customers and field organisation technical support via telephone in the technical & diagnostic area, for our full range of products. You could be involved in customer training activities.

HAVE WE PEAKED YOUR INTEREST?

Send your application to:

Job@its.jnj.com or by post :

Ortho Clinical Diagnostics – Human Resources Direction

European Support Center - BP 30335

67411 ILLKIRCH Cedex France

+33 388 65 47 00

Ortho Clinical Diagnostics
a Johnson & Johnson company

